Research Reproductions

Researchers may request photocopies of standard sized archival or photographic materials from the Society's collections. Photocopies are 10¢ per page. Researchers may also take photographs of materials from the Society's collections using their own personal digital camera with the flash disabled. There is no charge for such photographs. Photocopies and researcher-generated digital reproductions are for personal/research use only and are not to be reproduced in any published materials. If a researcher would like to use an image in a publication, an image use agreement must be completed and applicable fees paid.
